SMALL, PRIVATE, CLASSES

ONLY 1-6 students are accepted at a time. We do not believe Budo Taijutsu should be a "for profit" business venture. It is a responsibility and a legacy to be passed down honestly. Its lessons must be felt. Hence, personal attention and an Uke/Tori interaction is necessary between the teacher and every level of student. This makes finding a good teacher, who grasps the principles and concepts behind the taijutsu, paramount.

All classes are...

- 1) Mondays and Thursdays
- 2) 1.5 to 2 hours long
- 3) East Valley location
- 3) Conducted outdoors in a park *

 Training is by invitation only. Please contact us with the information above for our location.*

ETERNAL VIGILANCE

The Sun Valley Bujinkan Dojo (SVBD) of Arizona endeavors to follow the teachings of Budo Taijutsu and Dr. Masaaki Hatsumi, Soke of the International Bujinkan Dojo. Bujinkan Budo Taijutsu is comprised of the following nine lineages Hatsumi Soke has solely within his charge.

Togakure Ryu Ninpo
Gyokko Ryu Kosshijutsu
Kukishinden Ryu Happon Hiken
Koto Ryu Koppojutsu
Gikan Ryu Koppojutsu
Shinden Fudo Ryu Dakentaijutsu
Gyokushin Ryu Ninpo
Kumogakure Ryu Ninjutsu
Takagi Yoshin Ryu Jutaijutsu

The SVBD strives to offer well-rounded training in Budo Taijutsu for students of all experience levels. There is a heavy focus on taijutsu (unarmed combat), weapons (traditional and modern), and the "warrior heart".

Q: Is it a "soft" art? Is it a "hard" art?

A: If you must classify things...it is both. It is "soft" when it needs to be and "hard" when it wants to be.

A LONG, DIFFICULT JOURNEY

Budo Taijutsu is not a quantitative thing which can be learned easily. It is a long, and often frustrating, road which seems to have no end. This is something foreign and frustrating to most Americans who find worth in immediate results and gratification. It is not for the kata collectors. It is not for the undisciplined or bravado. Budo is a Martial Art, Martial Science and Martial Way. Budo Taijutsu training will not begin and end in the dojo. It follows you everywhere much like a good upbringing or education. This is your task, your challenge and your responsibility. It is not for everyone.
